

Hello Everybody & Merry Christmas!

Wow, time flies! I can't believe another year has passed. We just got back from a great trip to Los Angeles, CA. Saw lots of family and friends and got to know everyone a little better. We traveled around quite a bit, too. Went up north to Sequoia National Park, which was awesome! Also went to Hollywood Blvd and Rio Dao Drive. Expensive stuff! The boys went surfing and I went body boarding, but the water was so cold I didn't last very long. Thank you to all in CA for making our stay great.

I love Florida and our house (even if it is old and small), but Jeremy says it is coming down and a new duplex is going up in its place, which I'm sure will be very nice. We live 9 blocks from the beach so spend quite a bit of time there especially in the summer. The waves aren't as big as California's but they are good to learn on.

Business is booming! We have gotten to know so many people down here. Our best source of advertising is word of mouth. I have been working with the boys and keeping up with the paperwork side of the business, but I am ready for a break. This next semester I plan to start school and major in veterinarian medicine and I am super excited about it.

Well that's my big exciting news! Oh, I did turn 21 this August. That was pretty big. Jeremy and I went down to West Palm and had a blast. Some of our friends joined us a few days later and we shopped, ate, relaxed and went to a concert.

Merry Christmas and a happy new year! Lots of love,
Claire C. Morgan
